

EASY IMPROVEMENT PLANNING

“It’s intuitive and easy to use - our principals actually like the improvement planning process again.”

Barbara Ybarra, Associate Superintendent, Bryan ISD

OVERVIEW

Bryan ISD, a district with 23 campuses, was tasked with creating their own improvement plan. Without a universal system in place, effective collaboration was challenging. It was difficult for district administrators to manage plans and track their progress. Auditing plans for budgetary compliance and content was a burden. There was no method for formatively assessing plans throughout the year.

SOLUTION

Bryan ISD implemented Plan4Learning to improve organization, communication, and teamwork to the improvement planning process. Built-in checklists and a streamlined process make it easy for each campus to confirm that all requirements are met. Planned formative reviews help Bryan ISD keep plans on track. This was particularly helpful in transforming the improvement planning process from a task-based item to a living document. Now Bryan ISD can plan for and stay focused on student success and achievement throughout the year.

RESULTS

Today, Bryan ISD administrators can see every campus, view their goals, and track their progress - all with a quick glance. The district now operates efficiently with streamlined processes, all on a universal, web-based system.

ORGANIZED PROCESSES

Easily track plans in real time using built-in checklists and a streamlined process. to confirm all requirements are met.

IMPROVED COMMUNICATION

Administrators, principals, and stakeholders come together throughout the year to set goals, track progress, and more.

BETTER COLLABORATION

Plan4Learning allows for multiple team members to access the same improvement plan, at the same time, and lend their unique expertise.

AUDIT-READY BUDGET TRACKING

Administrators appreciate the ability to tie goals to budgets, helping allocate funds for instructional purposes.
