

ORGANIZE FOR YOUR AUDIT

OVERVIEW

Gaston County Schools, a district with 54 schools and over 32,000 students, was using Google Files to try to manage their compliance needs. It was very difficult to manage and the files were poorly organized. They needed a new solution that would keep files organized consistently, especially in light of an upcoming audit. To add to complexities, North Carolina was rolling out a new monitoring tool.

SOLUTION

Gaston County Schools adopted Title1Crate as their new way to organize compliance documentation. As a result, their audit went smoothly, and the team found Title1Crate remarkably easy to use with North Carolina's new monitoring tool. The introduction of Title1Crate eliminated any "this is how we did it last year..." talk, so that submitting and reviewing files was finally under control.

“Our audit went BEAUTIFULLY! I absolutely LOVE how much more organized the files are with Title1Crate.”

Dr. Andrea Meyer, Federal Programs Compliance Coordinator
